“Guests, themselves, have an essential role to play in safety,” Hale said. “This program will be an important part of our expanded efforts to promote awareness of the rules that have been developed to keep our Guests safe and enlist them as partners.”

The first phase of the education campaign has been completed and includes a variety of measures – such as new universal signage, audio messages, ground markings and barriers – currently in place on attractions to communicate and reinforce safety rules to Guests. The Campaign will later expand to provide safety tips to all families planning vacation travel.
